ONE IS VICTIM OF HOTEL FIRE

Historic Capital Hotel Is Destroyed By Fire.

DAMAGE MORE THAN $100,000

Lieut. Gov. Black and Family Rescued by Soldiers From Company L.

Frankfort, Ky., April 5.—One known death and property loss of more than $100,000 accompanied the destruction by fire this afternoon of the historic Capital Hotel, which stands tonight a mere shell of limestone, the interior a mass of tangled debris.

Frank C. Dudley, of Fairmount, W. Va., a newspaper man, was taken out of room 29 an hour after the fire was discovered unconscious from inhaling smoke. Efforts to revive him with a lung motor were unavailing. While they were working with him a long-distance call from Fairmount came for him, and Prison Commissioner F. Thomas Hatcher, of Pikeville, who had identified him and was sitting in the Frankfort Hotel lobby, answered the call and gave notice of his death. Fifteen years ago Dudley ran a Republican newspaper at Pikeville.

Thrilling Rescues.

Thrilling escapes were numerous and while a dense volume of smoke was pouring through the building from the basement guests were being taken from the upper windows by ladders. Lieut. Gov. James D. Black and Mrs. Black and Miss Gertrude Black and Representative Mazyck O'Brien barely were saved. Mrs. Black was seen at the window of their suite overlooking the front portico on the second floor, where they were overcome, and were found and helped out by soldiers of Company L, Second Regiment, who assisted the firemen and formed a cordon about the burning building.

Goebel Died There.

Manager Ed Weitzel said the insurance is more than $25,000 and the loss around $100,000. During the sixty-two years of its existence the hotel has sheltered all Kentucky's notables. William Goebel died in one of its rooms.

Appellate Judge John M. Elliott was shot and killed by Thomas Bu ford near the women's entrance March 26, 1879, and the desk in the lobby bore reminders of the famous duel between Col. D. G. Colson, of Middlesboro, and Lieut. E. D. Scott during the Goebel-Taylor contest January 18, 1900, in which Scott, L. D. Demaree, of Shelbyville, and Charles H. Julian, of Frankfort, were killed and Colson, B. B. Golden, Harry McEwing and O. D. Redpath were wounded.

Mansion Offered As Shelter.

Until the Hotel is rebuilt resourceful Frankfort is making shift to take care of her guests. While the fire was burning this afternoon citizens were mingling among the hotel guests, inviting them to their homes. Gov. Stanley and Mrs. Stanley announced that they would take all who would come in the mansion and provide cots. The Elks threw open their home, the Henry Clay Fire Insurance Company turned over the old Y. M. C. A. building for sheltering the people and the Lexington Board of Commerce sent word that Lexington would accommodate the overflow. Meanwhile other hotels and boarding houses placed cots in rooms to increase their capacity.

Senator J. B. Hiles, of Bracken county, said tonight that he was in the room next to Frank C. Dudley, afterward found dead in room 29, but supposed everybody had got out ahead of him. A negro bellboy said he was with Dudley fifteen minutes before the fire was discovered and was trying to make his way back to the room when cut off by the smoke.

ROUGH COURT DAY.

There was more drinking-in evidence on the streets Monday than on any court day in many months past. Cursing and vulgar language on the streets could be plainly heard in business houses, and it naturally has been the subject of much comment.

Eleven arrests were made during the day.

Just where responsibility for the conduct Monday lies the Enterprise does not undertake to say, but one thing is certain and that is it should not be tolerated in the future. If the police force on account of its size is unable to cope with court day crowds then a sufficient number of extra men should be put out to maintain order. Men should not be allowed on the streets so drunk they aimlessly stagger into ladies who happen to be passing, as was the case Monday, and it is to be sincerely hoped that the city will have enough officers working on court days in the future to prevent a repetition of the conduct witnessed Monday.—[Lebanon Enterprise.]

Ed. Note.—Lebanon is an open saloon town.

This much for "personal liberty."

CLARKSVILLE VISITED BY DISASTROUS FIRE

Clarksville, Tenn., April 6.—Early this morning Clarksville was visited by a disastrous fire. It originated in the office of the Buckner Bros. tobacco warehouse and was fanned by a strong gale until it had destroyed two large tobacco warehouses with 2,500,000 pounds of tobacco, a shed containing 700 bales of hay and several tenement houses. The loss is over $250,000.

TWO SHOT BY GUARDS ON DUTY AT TUNNEL

Trenton, N. J., April 7.—Two men, who were said to be acting suspiciously, were shot and wounded here early today by National Guardsmen on duty at the Pennsylvania railroad tunnel, under the Delaware and Raritan canal and an approach to the Delaware river bridge of the railroad company.

TRUESDALE ON TRIAL FOR LIFE

Louisville Man Charged With Killing Si Heston—Self-Defense Claimed.

Leitchfield, Ky., April 6.—James B. Truesdale was put on trial here today in the Grayson Circuit Court for the death of Si Heston. The case was called late yesterday, but a jury was not secured until 4 o'clock this afternoon. A night session of court is being held tonight and it is not expected that a verdict will be reached before tomorrow night.

Much interest is being manifested in the case and the courtroom is crowded. The defendant is alleged to have killed Heston in the drug store of R. L. Moorman, in Leitchfield, last December. Truesdale used a revolver, and is said to have fired three times each shot taking effect. Heston lived about thirty minutes after he was shot. He was about 60 years old.

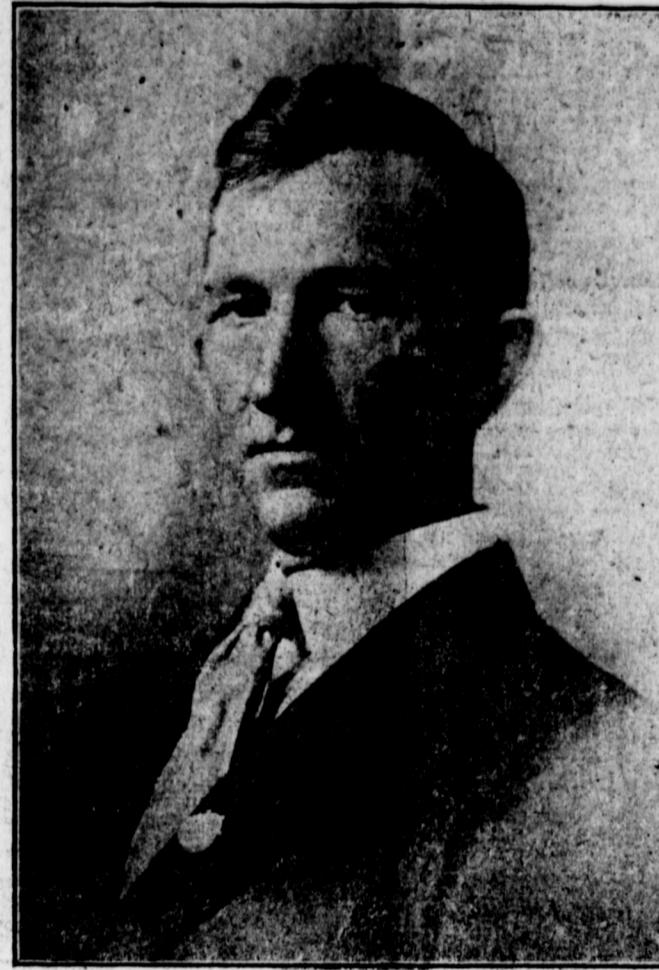

The defendant is about 25 years old and lives in Louisville. He was engaged here as a representative of the State Road Department when the killing occurred. He claims self-defense.

BIG CATTLE DEAL.

Fox O'Daniel & Co., who have had 552 head of cattle on stop at the distillery of Wathen, Mueller & Kolbert the past season, a few days ago sold the bunch to Armour & Co., Chicago packers, says the Lebanon Enterprise. For 202 of the cattle delivered last Saturday they received $10.40 per hundred pounds; for the remaining 350 head which are to be delivered April 21, they received $11 per hundred. The cattle delivered Saturday averaged 1,090 pounds.

WILLIAM SNYDER INJURED BY FALLING FROM BARN

William Snyder, of Deanefield, was seriously injured shortly after 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, when he fell fifteen feet to the ground from an old barn on which he, in company with William Haynes, was tearing down, says the Owensboro Messenger. Snyder was taken into a nearby house where the services of a physician were secured and was found to be suffering from a badly wrenched back. It is also feared that he sustained internal injuries.

MEASLES FATAL

To Centertown Boy Who Went
To Akron, Ohio, Recently,
For Employment.

(Centertown Special.)

Foreye Boyd, who went to Akron, Ohio, several weeks ago along with others to secure employment, contracted measles and later developed pneumonia from which he died last Friday morning about 2 o'clock. This is the second Ohio county boy to lose his life in the Ohio city within the past two weeks; Earl Hocker having died from injuries sustained in an automobile accident. We all regret exceedingly to lose two good boys like these were. It is a great loss not only for the present but for the future that these young men promised themselves and their families. Both families are grief stricken, and we all feel the loss keenly in many ways.

Funeral services were conducted from the Baptist church here by the Rev. L. W. Tichenor, and though the weather was very inclement, the church was crowded with sorrowing relatives and friends. He was buried in the Centertown graveyard about twelve o'clock Easter Sunday.

WOOSLEY—SMITH.

(Bennett Special.)

On Saturday afternoon the 7th of April at one o'clock Mr. Asa Woosley, of Caneyville, and Miss Beulah Smith, of Horton, drove to the residence of Rev. J. W. Miller, of this place, and were quietly married in the presence of their intimate friends. Mr. and Mrs. Woosley will make their future home in Caneyville, where Mrs. Woosley has a student of Caneyville school. Their many friends wish this popular young couple a long and happy married life.

Any member of the profession interested will please address Eugene B. Pendleton, Secretary, Hartford, Ky.

rious loss suffered in the county, so far as learned, was along Prathers creek, which on Monday morning was higher than ever known. Charles Sweets, a well known farmer, lost 12 ewes, 21 lambs and 12 pigs. The stock was carried downstream and no trace of some of it has ever been found. While the rain continued for several hours, the fall was most severe about 10 o'clock when for several minutes it resembled a cloudburst.—[Lebanon Enterprise.]

BRYAN OFFERS TO ENLIST AS PRIVATE

Former Secretary Of State, In Letter To President, Tenders His Services To U. S.

Tallahassee, Fla., April 6.—Former Secretary Bryan today sent this message to President Wilson:

"Believing it to be the duty of each citizen to bear his part of the burden of war and his share of its perils, I hereby tender my services to the Government. Please enroll me as a private whenever I am needed. Assign me to any work that I can do until called to the colors. I shall, through the Red Cross, contribute to the comfort of soldiers in the hospital, and through the Young Men's Christian Association, aid in guarding the morals of the men in camp."

Mr. Bryan, with the rank of Colonel, commanded a regiment of Nebraska volunteers during the Spanish-American war.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

Goebel Walston and Garnet Arnold, two young men of the Texas neighborhood, narrowly escaped being drowned when they drove into a flooded stream near the home of Geo. Crane, about three miles from Perryville. The buggy was overturned and the horse was drowned after being washed several hundred feet down the stream. The boys escaped without serious injuries.—[Springfield Sun.]

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD BOY

Killed by Accidental Discharge Of Revolver—A Very Bright Lad,

(Oak Grove Special.)

Logan, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Bratcher, happened to an accident Saturday morning which resulted in his death about three hours later.

His mother was dusting the safe and set a box on the bed which contained a 38-caliber revolver. The little boy put his hand in the box and pulled the trigger, the bullet taking effect above the left hip.

Logan was a bright-faced and very pretty child and liked by all his schoolmates and friends.

He was laid to rest Sunday about twelve o'clock in the New Maymus Christian church graveyard in the presence of a great crowd of sorrowing friends and relatives.

Good intentions are apt to get rusty unless they are kept in constant use.

HOUSTON URGES FOOD PRODUCTION

Says There is No Risk In Big Food Crops.

IMPORTANCE TO THE NATION

Of a Food Crop for the Coming Year Cannot Be Overestimated.

Washington, April 8.—Secretary of Agriculture Houston again appealed to the country to make every effort to raise adequate food crops this year not only for the United States' needs, but to meet the requirements of the Entente.

"The importance to the nation of a generous food supply for the coming year cannot be overemphasized. In view of the economic problems which may arise as a result of the entrance of the United States into the war," said the Secretary. "Every effort should be made to produce more crops than are needed for our requirements. Many millions of people across the seas, as well as our own people, must rely in large part upon the products of our fields and ranges. This situation will continue to exist even though hostilities should end unexpectedly soon, since European production cannot be restored immediately to its normal basis.

Reduction In Supplies.

"Taking the winter wheat territory as a whole, winter killing has occurred to an extent very much greater than usual. This obviously, if not compensated for in some way, will mean a material reduction in the supplies of our most important bread cereal. Where winter wheat has been damaged sufficiently to justify the abandonment of fields it should by all means be replaced by spring-planted food crops, preferably small grains or corn.

Large Acreage Of Corn.

"Corn is the leading food and feed crop of the United States in geographic range of production, acreage and quantity of product. The vital importance of a large acreage of this crop, properly cared for, therefore, is obvious. Conditions warrant the planting of the largest acreage of this crop which it is possible to handle effectively.

"Earliness of maturity, other factors being equal, is advantageous in the case of practically all grain crops. Relatively early maturing varieties should be selected where possible, and planting should be done at the earliest suitable date.

"The usefulness of cow peas and soy beans as human food has been recognized only recently in this country. Existing conditions warrant the planting of all the available seed of varieties known to do well in the several sections. The soy bean in particular has proved sufficiently resistant to cold in spring and to adverse weather during summer to warrant heavy planting, especially throughout the South. The value of the beans for oil production as well as for human food has become recognized so quickly and so generally during the past year that the crop has acquired a commercial standing far in excess of its previous status. The high food value of field beans and the shortage of supply due to the light yields of 1915 and 1916 render them of great importance in the regions to which they are adapted.

"A deficiency of hay and forage for the next winter would jeopardize the future meat and dairy supplies of the country and result in a shortage of roughage for military draft and saddle animals.

"Seed potatoes should be conserved by planting on the best lands available for them and planting for thorough tillage and protection of the crop against disease and insect pests. Potatoes can be grown most advantageously near the centers of population in the Northern States where transportation cost may be reduced to a minimum. This crop is capable of quick and large increase of production when conditions are favorable.

Good intentions are apt to get rusty unless they are kept in constant use.

COST OF BIG SEA FIGHT WOULD KEEP 4,000

In Comfort Forever—10,000,000
Pounds Sterling Cost of One Hour's Battle.

Ten million pounds sterling, more gold than 1,000 strong men could well carry; a sum which would maintain 4,000 families in reasonable comfort for ever; and much greater than the entire expenditure on many of our smaller wars. Such is the estimated cost of a single hour's fight between the British and the German fleets engaged at anything like their full strength.

That this is no exaggerated estimate is proved by the fact that the Jutland battle, in which only a portion of the two fleets took part, cost over £40,000,000, without counting the value of the lives sacrificed in it. And, incredible as such a statement must seem, it becomes intelligible when we consider that a single well-directed shot can sink in a few minutes a battleship that has cost more than £2,000,000 to build and equip.

In the Jutland battle we lost three battle cruisers—the Queen Mary, Indefatigable and Invincible—the aggregate value of which exceeded £5,250,000. In addition to this we lost three cruisers—Defense, Warrior and Black Prince—whose cost £3,750,000; and eight smaller vessels, whose value ranged from £100,000 to £200,000. Thus our own bill of costs, in destroyed ships of war alone, amounted to more than £10,000,000.

The German loss was greater still, for it included four ships—the Kaiser, Hindenburg, Lutzow and Derfflinger—not one of which cost less than £2,250,000; these four vessels alone representing £10,000,000. To these we must add the Pommern, £1,200,000; the Elbing, Wiesbaden and Rostock, £400,000 each; the Fraunlob, £250,000; nine destroyers, £1,200,000, and one submarine at £100,000—making a grand total of £13,950,000.

Thus in ships known to have been destroyed the actual money loss in this one battle amounted to nearly £23,000,000.

But the number of ships damaged and disabled was still larger, and the cost of repairing them must have amounted to a very large sum. The precise amount it is naturally impossible to ascertain; but, according to expert estimate, it could not be less than £9,000,000, thus raising our bill of damages to £33,000,000.

And there are some formidable items to follow. What of the mountains of ammunition expended in the battle? Every time a twelve-inch gun is fired with its 850-pound shell and its 207-pound of cordite £100 is dissipated. The Indefatigable and Invincible each carried eight twelve-inch guns, in addition to 16 of four-inch. Each twelve-inch gun could fire three rounds in two minutes; so that, assuming the maximum rate of firing the expenditure on ammunition would be at the rate of £1,200 a minute for one ship alone. For the Queen Mary, with her eight thirteen-inch guns, the expenditure would be greater still.

When we consider this, and the fact that in the Jutland battle some 45 vessels were engaged for ten hours or so, we can understand that the bill for ammunition must have amounted to millions of pounds; and can even credit the estimate of 27,500,000 given by an expert.

Then there is the cost of fuel. A battle cruiser at full speed consumes 1,000 tons of fuel in a day; and when we consider the hours of fighting, the long distances covered to and from the scene of the battle and the number of ships engaged in both fleets an allowance of £90,000 does not seem excessive.

Thus adding the items together we reach a total of over £40,000,000 for the actual money loss in this one battle in which only portions of the two fleets were engaged. If we add £20,000,000, the estimated value to the nations of the lives lost, we reach the appalling total of over £60,000,000 as the cost of a few hours' modern fighting on the sea.

GIVE WOMEN THE VOTE NOW THE CRY

Both Lloyd George and Former Premier Urge Equal Suffrage.

ENTITLED TO VOTE IN COMMONS

War Could Not Be Carried On Without the Women Says Asquith.

London.—Premier Lloyd George made a declaration in the House of Commons in favor of woman suffrage.

The Premier said he welcomed the recommendation in favor of woman suffrage which was made in the program for electoral reform moved by former Premier Asquith.

The other reform measures also were approved by the Premier, who said that in the opinion of the government it would be a national waste if the results of the conference at which the reforms were outlined should be thrown away.

He favored a generous extension of the electoral franchise by reducing to three months the period for qualifying for voting, and by assuming the qualification of every soldier and sailor.

Former Premier Asquith said the House would not be unprepared to hear that he and other members no longer regarded from the standpoint they occupied before the war. Mr. Asquith made this statement in moving the adoption of a plan for electoral reform.

Mr. Asquith said his opposition to woman suffrage always had been based solely on considerations of public expediency. The women had now worked out their own salvation. The war could not be carried on without them. What moved him especially he added, was the problem of reconstruction after the war. He considered it to be neither just nor expedient to withhold from women the power or the right to make their voices heard directly.

The fact that for three years there had been no recurrence of the "detestable campaign which had disgraced our public life," said Mr. Asquith, "would make it impossible for any one to say that in changing their position in regard to suffrage he and his associates had yielded to force what they had refused to yield to argument. With the exception of the actual bearing of arms in the field, there was hardly a service which had contributed to maintenance of the cause of the allies in which women had not been as active and efficient as men."

Woman's Work.

Wherever one turned might be seen women who, without detriment to the prerogatives of their sex, were performing work which three years ago would have been regarded as falling exclusively within the province of men. After the war questions would arise with regard to women's labor functions and activities in which the women must have a voice."

Mr. Asquith also supported strongly the other proposals for electoral reform, and expressed the opinion that the recommendation that all elections should take place on one day dealt with one of the greatest reforms which could be introduced. He understood that the life of the Parliament would be extended further until the end of November, and hoped that a new register on the lines of the reforms suggested would be ready, should an election be necessary at that time.

CALIFORNIA LETTER.

Whittier, Cal., April 2, 1917.
Editor Hartford Herald,
Hartford, Ky.

Dear Sir:—As to California and my first introduction to its beautiful sunny clime—have had time to see the contrast between Kentucky and the sunny Southern California. Of course, here they have, as it seems, summer all the time, but there is nothing to put new life and vitality in the green to be worn by the all-winter evergreens. But not so in Kentucky. In the months of October and November the tree shrubbery and plants lay aside their summer clothing that has been faded by heavy rains and hot sunshines in summer and surrenders to Mother Earth the things that were in spring secreted from her and, as it were, folds their arms and closes their eyes for a winter sleep—only to be awakened in the beautiful month of May, when, as it were, the Gabriel, who will call the dead to arise and the earth will give up its dead as well as the seas. Then it will be you will see the beautiful leaves, grasses and flowers put aside their winter gowns and be on the stage for exhibition throughout that period of time allotted them by their Creator.

Now, Southern California is the place where one eats before he is hungry, drinks before he is thirsty and tries to sleep before he is sleepy. But in old Kentucky it's quite different. Nature has so decreed that her creatures will be prepared to receive each blessing at the appointed time and make man as well as all beasts of the fields and birds of the air the great beneficiary and has all beings' systems as well as appetites prepared to receive their portion. This, and this only, is the difference so far as climatic conditions are concerned.

The capital of this country was made by Western Northerners and Eastern farmers and brought here and piled up so fast that the rich came here with their riches and created such a boom that the saying goes "this is the rich man's country. But good roads, good wages and good climate makes this to us 'hillbillies'" almost believe this equal to the second heaven spoken of in the Bible.

Well, with a square shuffle, cut and deal, how is our county candidates getting along?—Am not a bit posted. Hope both parties will select good, sober men for both judiciary and executive offices. Shame on either party who would evade this chance. All aspirants I've heard of I think worthy. All the candidates I know of for sure for county offices I think all O. K. Have just heard of J. W. Daugherty, in my home district, who was a candidate for Magistrate, being dead. Do not know of any other aspirant, but Rosine, being entitled to this term, can put up a good man.

Well, you know I've always been just like a fife in high oats during a primary or general election. Wouldn't it be funny to have me eliminated this time? But as I am getting old, have certainly served my master well and ought to be placed on the shelf—would prefer top one. Friendship toward all, I am,

PERRY CROWDER.

DOGS ARE DEMOCRATIC
They Share With Small Boys Entire Freedom From Snobbishness.

With the real boy a dog is very much at home and entirely at its ease. Perhaps it is happiest with a crowd of boys at their lay or starting off on a holiday tramp. That man must, indeed, be a "grouch" who has not many times envied both boys and dog. His envy is sharpened by the reflection that the dog knows and understands the boys better than he himself could hope to do.

The dog must be a bit of a tramp, perhaps even a rowdy, taking joy in the rough and tumble of life. Fortunately few dogs are the worse for their breeding or capable of being spoiled by education. They are never snobs. It has often been observed—and here is a point for the consideration of the students of the canine nature and social order—that dogs seem to prefer what is worn and shabby to the spick and span. It is the same with boys, who have a natural repugnance to anything in the way of furniture and carpets that is too fine to be used. There is no better teacher of democracy than the dog, if he has but half a chance. And boys are apt pupils.—[Indianapolis News.]

GOOD APPOINTMENTS FOR KENTUCKIANS

$2,000 DAMAGE.

The high wind Sunday afternoon did considerable damage in the Newstead neighborhood. It blew down a barn and stable on W. L. Caudle's farm, and a barn of Jim Shelton's. The loss was about $2,000.—[Hopkinsville Kentuckian.]

People who live within a stone's throw of each other shouldn't live in glass houses.

Helps Sick Women

Cardui, the woman's tonic, helped Mrs. William Eversole, of Hazel Patch, Ky. Read what she writes: "I had a general breaking-down of my health. I was in bed for weeks, unable to get up. I had such a weakness and dizziness, ... and the pains were very severe. A friend told me I had tried everything else, why not Cardui? ... I did, and soon saw it was helping me ... After 12 bottles, I am strong and well."

TAKE CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Do you feel weak, dizzy, worn-out? Is your lack of good health caused from any of the complaints so common to women? Then why not give Cardui a trial? It should surely do for you what it has done for so many thousands of other women who suffered—it should help you back to health.

Ask some lady friend who has taken Cardui. She will tell you how it helped her. Try Cardui.

PUBLICITY? NO!

Magistrates are constitutional officers and by the Constitution are made members of the Fiscal Court. Before entering upon their duties they must take an oath to support the Constitution and the laws of Kentucky.

(Sec. 1884 of the Statutes) —After providing that the Sheriff shall execute bond, collect and settle, the law says:

"His (the Sheriff's) settlements shall show the amount of poll tax, and also the amount of ad valorem tax collected, and an itemized statement of the moneys disbursed, and the same shall be published for at least two weeks in the paper published in the county having the largest circulation therein, if any be published in the county; if none, then the settlement shall be published by written or printed handbills posted at the front door of the court house, and at least three other public places in the county."

The settlement of the Ohio County Sheriff for the year 1916 was filed and approved by the Fiscal Court on the 15th day of February. No publication was ordered. Another session was held last week, April 4th and 5th, and yet the taxpayers have not seen in print the settlement which the law says shall be published. Not only that, but the Court refused, after their attention was called to the delinquency, to direct its publication. The law quoted above says it shall be published in the county newspaper having the largest circulation therein. In order that there should be no excuse for further delay, the manager of The Herald filed with the court a sworn statement as to this paper's circulation in Ohio county and its circulation together. A representative of the paper in open court called attention to the law and the decision of the Court of Appeals which holds it to be mandatory on the Fiscal Court to publish in the paper having the largest circulation in the county. A Democratic member suggested that the Clerk be directed to publish as required by law, but no action was taken by the court. A Republican member suggested to The Herald representative that while the law required publication there seemed to be no penalty for failing to do so.

For the benefit of this member or others we call attention to Sec. 227 of the Constitution and Sec. 3748 of the Statutes of Kentucky, which provide a penalty for any willful neglect of duty by such officers.

At last, however, the remedy is with the tax payers. They pay the bills and are entitled to the information as to fiscal affairs of the county. The law was made that the public might see what and how public funds are received and disbursed.

Fortunately also, these officers are elected by the people, and if we do not mistake the times and the conditions in this county there will be a reckoning in November—there will be a trial—the people will be the jury—and the verdict will be rendered at the ballot box.

An exchange says: "What chance has a civilian with the girls when a kahki-clad soldier appears upon the scene?" To which we might add that said civilian has no chance at all in Hartford, for most every boy here donned his uniform and shouldered arms for his country when Company H was called out last week. A fine spirit of patriotism, and the boys should be heartily commended by all.

It takes more nerve to sign enlistment papers now than one thinks, in view of the fact that things are so indefinite, and the boys of Hartford and Ohio county who have rallied to Old Glory during the past few days should have the best wishes and commendation of every patriotic citizen.

In a statement addressed to the people of Missouri, Senator Stone of filibuster fame, says now that war has been declared that everything he done to bring victory and that the boys "close the ranks, be game and make good."

Wheat, the great bread-making cereal, reached the $2.00 mark in Chicago last week. It was the highest price ever paid on a normal market. This price was only exceeded once—in 1864—and that was only momentary.

A week or so ago we noticed a page advertisement of a well known distiller in a "dry" newspaper. A few days ago we read an editorial in the same sheet giving John Barleycorn fits. "Consistency, thou art a jewel."

A Wisconsin woman has two husbands locked in the same cell—one charged with abandonment and the other with non-support. Lucky woman to have two husbands, and both of them in jail.

A Louisville woman seeks a divorce from her husband because she says he is always chasing her with either a butcher knife or a gun. Some women are so easily peeved!

From the amount of disinfectant bought at one time for the jail, one would judge it is used as an antidote for "bug juice" peddled by the fellows locked up for "bootlegging."

The Republicans of Ohio county have had the uninterrupted control of the Fiscal Court for more than eleven years. Have they made good?

Practically every bridge and tunnel in Kentucky is being guarded by members of the National Guard.

Umph!—my! But wasn't Easter a rough one?

To our list of announcements we add the name of Esq. R. C. Tichenor, of Centertown, for re-election to the office of Justice of the Peace in Magisterial District No. 4, subject to the action of the Democratic party in the August primary. If nominated he will be elected and serve in such a manner as to show the wisdom of endorsing him for a second term.

"CLEAN-UP" PROCLAMATION.

If "cleanliness is next to Godliness," and no one hardly disputes it, then we want to show our visiting friends and neighbors that we are living right by cleaning up our back yards, back lots, etc., and as there is always a designated time set apart for clean-up days, I as Mayor of the city of Hartford, do hereby specify and designate April 24 and 25, 1917, as clean-up and paint-up days in our little city. It is hoped that everybody will do their part toward cleaning up the town.

J. C. ILER, Mayor.

The remains of Mrs. Fronia Martin were brought from Louisville where she died, and buried in Oakwood cemetery Monday. Short funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. D. Bennett. A brother, Joe Davis, of Owensboro, a son Cecil and daughter Ethel, of Louisville, accompanied the body to Hartford.

Mrs. Martin was the widow of Henry Martin, who died several years ago. They formerly lived here and had many friends in the town and county.

Mrs. Martin's death resulted from tuberculosis.

EVANGELIST MILEY

Preaching Some Excellent Sermons at the Christian Church;
Singer Arrived Yesterday.

Sunday morning at eleven o'clock Evangelist E. L. Miley, of Hopkinsville, preached the first sermon of what is to be a two weeks evangelistic campaign at the Christian church.

Evangelist Miley's sermons so far have evoked favorable comment from all who have heard him and it is expected that much good will be the result of his excellent sermons. He adheres strictly to the Bible in his discourses, and backs his arguments for men and women to lead better and more righteous lives by scriptural quotations.

Singing Evangelist R. Paul Arnold arrived yesterday, and from now on the singing promises to be a feature of the meetings, and everybody interested in the advancement of the Kingdom of Christ are cordially invited to attend and take part in these meetings.

EX-SERGEANT OF CO. H DIES IN NEW MEXICO

Cecil DeWeese Victim of White Plague.

On the evening of April the 1st Cecil DeWeese died of tuberculosis at the Anderson Ranch, near Hagerman, New Mexico. He was the only son of Mr. Lafe DeWeese, of Shreve, Ohio county. He was taken West by his parents three years ago, in an effort to improve his health. He made a brave and patient fight for his life, but had at last to yield the unequal struggle.

He contracted the trouble while a student in the School of Pharmacy at Louisville. He served four years as a member of Company H and was discharged with the rank of Sergeant. When the National Guard was called for service against Mexico last June, he traveled two hundred miles to offer his services. He had not sufficiently recovered to be available for duty.

He was laid to rest in the Masonic cemetery at Hagerman where the long afternoon shadows from the Rockies fringe the Great Plains, and amid the romantic surroundings which had grown so dear to him during his last and fatal years. He was a young man of much promise and the early ending of his life has brought the deepest sorrow to his relatives and friends.

FAILS TO HALT AND IS SHOT BY GUARD

Papers Found on Unidentified
Man Bore Name "Jack Currier."

An unidentified white man who was shot by Federal military guard at a bridge approach "somewhere in Kentucky," Wednesday, says the Courier-Journal, died of his wounds at 12:40 o'clock this morning at the city hospital. He died without regaining consciousness. The shooting occurred at 4:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The soldiers fired a volley after the man refused to obey
the summons to halt.

The man was placed on a train and rushed to Louisville, accompanied by a physician. At the city hospital a paper found on him bore the name "Jack Currier," but held no further identification.

A single shot had passed through his abdomen, perforating the intestines
in twelve places.

A search of his clothes failed to reveal any weapon, explosives or papers of any kind. He was dressed in ordinary working clothes, such as a section hand wears, and weighs 140 pounds and is about five feet ten inches tall. He was evidently of foreign blood and appeared to be either a Mexican or Russian.

MANIAC KIDNAPPED TIES BOY IN CELLAR

Philadelphia Policeman Finds Five-
Year-Old Bound With Wire
—Weak From Hunger.

Philadelphia.—In a weakened
condition and barely able to speak, five-year-old Nathan Plott son of Nathan Plott, a contractor who had been missing from his home some time, was found by the police.

Sergeant Nason discovered the child when passing the unoccupied house at No. 520 Carpenter street.
He heard moans coming from the cellar. Breaking down the front door of the house, Sergeant Nason went to the cellar and found the boy
in a corner, with his legs and arms tied with wire. Lifting the semiconscious child in his arms, the Sergeant carried him out of the cellar.
A patrol wagon was summoned and the boy was taken to the Mt. Sinai Hospital.

At the hospital the boy lost consciousness. His weakened condition is said by the physicians at the hospital to be due to the want of food and water. In the rooms of the house were found butts of cigarettes and cigars used by the kidnapper.

A man who has been seen in the neighborhood during the last three days is being sought by the police.
He is believed to be a maniac, as there was no apparent reason for the kidnapping of the boy.

K. E. A. TO MEET IN LOUISVILLE

For Annual Meeting April 25 To 28
—School Exhibits To Be Important Feature.

The Kentucky Educational Association will hold its annual meeting at Louisville, April 25 and 28. Every teacher should make arrangements to attend this meeting if possible.
It is an opportunity to discuss means and devise plans by which the schools may be enabled to meet the modern problems of educational endeavor.

One of the most important and instructive features of the Association is the school exhibits. Every county in the State should make an effort to send an exhibit even if only a few articles are sent. A number of valuable prizes have been offered for certain articles. Any article a school may send will be exhibited. Teachers should write the Secretary of the Association at Louisville for information.

The rich man can't always express himself properly, but he can pay the freight.

REPAYS KINDNESS
AFTER SEVENTEEN YEARS

McKinney, Tex.—A number of years ago a young man named King accepted the hospitality of the home of Tom Shewmake, a workingman of modest means, and lived with him for several years. King left the Shewmake home about seventeen years ago, going to California. He returned to McKinney the other day and visited his old friend, Shew-make, whom he found to be a man of small means and working hard every day. King spent the night with him and while downtown together next day presented Shew-make with a check for $5,000 as a mark of appreciation for the kindness shown in their younger days.
King has mining interests in California and is reputed to be a millionaire.

SIGHT RESTORED
AFTER 14 YEARS

Los Angeles, Cal.—By means of a surgical operation at the County Hospital, his vision has been restored to S. V. Ferrar, of Tucson, Ariz., who for fourteen years lived in darkness following an attack of smallpox during his childhood. Ferrar started recently to get a position undimayed by the fact that for fourteen years he had been living in almost another world.

BLACK CAT TURNS WHITE

Athens, Ga.—Everybody has heard of a person's hair turning white over night from fright, but the latest freak happening is for a black cat which until recently possessed a glossy, black coat to turn white. The other night the cat was accidentally locked in a safe in which are kept
the money and books.

The safe was locked at 9 o'clock.
The safe was opened at 8 o'clock the night after, and there was the cat, except for the fact that instead of being jet black she was perfectly white.

DYNAMITE HID NEAR BRIDGE

Elizabethtown, Ky.—A supposed tramp of German descent was seen to hide a package near the L. & N.
bridge across Nolin river, and on investigation it was found to be five sticks of dynamite. Local officers tried to apprehend him, but so far he has eluded them. It is not known what his intentions were.

time. Even conscience isn't apt to

The facts are now confirmed.
Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of

S. L. King, proprietor harness and grocery store, Main St., Hartford, says: "I consider Doan's Kidney Pills a good medicine for kidney trouble for they have done me a great deal of good whenever I have had occasion to use them. Several times I have suffered from pain
that I knew were caused from weak kidneys. At these times I have got Doan's Kidney Pills and have used them as directed. They have never failed to cure the attack." (Statement given February 23, 1912.)

On November 15, 1916, Mr. King

A GLIMPSE OF INDIA

Sights That Tickled a Tourist's
Sense of Humor.

COWS OWN THE SIDEWALKS.

They Are All Sacred and Hence They Have the Right of Way—Crows, Snakes and Monkeys Also Sacred.
The Jewelry Fad.

Four things in India are held sacred
—cows, crows, snakes and monkeys—says Homer Croy in Leslie's. How they came to select these above all others
to put on the sacred list is more than any one knows.

You would have to hunt a long time to find anything homelier than a sacred cow. The sacred cows are of a soiled white, and they have long, drooping jacket rabbit ears and camel's humps on their necks just where the collar button would come. They look about as sacred as a corn sheller.

These cows wander up and down the street, and when they come to a grocery they calmly begin eating the vegetables on display. The grocer cannot drive them away, for they are sacred.

All he can do is to stand there with a plaintive, pleading expression in his eyes and hope that the cow is not feeling well.

From one grocery to another they take the middle of the sidewalk. They won't turn out under any consideration—they've got to have the middle of the sidewalk. It takes the last remnant of my gentlemanly instincts to step out into the gutter to let a cow past. I just itch to get my hands on a club. If I could there'd be an awful concussion on about the fourth sacred floating rib.

Ponder over it as I may, I have never been able to figure out why anybody who hasn't been out in the sun too much should pick a crow to hold sacred. One would think that if they were going to pick any bird to hold sacred they would select a beautiful one, for India has hundreds of beautiful birds, and by no wild leap of the imagination could a crow be called beautiful.

I thought our American crows were homely, but they are beautiful alongside the Bombay crows. The Bombay crows are the dirtiest, grassest, most dilapidated looking birds I ever saw in my life. They take full advantage of their sacredness. They will swoop down and pull vegetables out of a basket a person is carrying and will come hopping in and drag things off the table, especially things that will spot the carpet, but one cannot touch them, for they are sacred.

And they retire so late at night!
They dearly loved to sit on a limb outside my window and engage in scandal and gossip until a late hour in harsh voices until I would give anything before I left Missouri I had packed a shotgun.

As for sacred snakes, India produces some fine ones, but they are the sacred crows as are the sacred crows
with me.

Monkeys are in a class by themselves,
and when one playfully tosses a tile
from the roof at my head I miss that stone more than ever.

Another curious thing in India is the jewelry fad.

I love to get on a street car in Bombay and ride just to see the conductor.
He wears his turban wrapped around his head and his skirt coiled around his waist, and when he comes down
the aisle to collect your fare his brown knees pop in and out from under his skirt as if it were some new kind of gown.

A Hindu street car conductor doesn't worry much about the rags situated here and there that make up his clothes. His efforts are concentrated on getting a big pair of earrings. It is wonderful what success they have.
Some of the rings look as if they had been cast for the navy. Their earrings are not little bobs that hang from the lower part of the ear, but are loops fastened in the top part. The right ear is the favorite. On this they hang the greater part of their silverware.

India is a great jewelry wearing country. When it comes to scattering it around the women favor their ears first and their wrists second. They wear bracelets clear up to their elbows until they look like a cane rack at old home week. The Hindus are afraid to put their money in the bank, so they buy jewelry and string it on their wives. A Hindu can't lift his head and look the world in the eye if his wife, coming down the sidewalk, doesn't rattle like a milk wagon. Every time she puts up her hand to do her hair it sounds as if the next number on the program were a muscle dance.

Toes are a favorite place with the Hindus for jewelry. The big toe is certain of a silver ring, and if the pocketbook holds out the envious smaller ones are sure to be remembered.
Some of the toe rings have tiny little beads, so that when a woman walks it sounds as if the cows were in the corn on the far forty.

The women of India don't go in very much for dressing. Jewelry is about all they wear, and they wear that at inconspicuous points. They seem to take a personal pride in seeing how much money they can save their husbands on clothes, and their husbands see with how much jewelry they can surprise their wives. The Mohammedan women are very careful to keep their faces covered up.

Health and good humor are to the human body like sunshine to vegetation—Massillon.

THE DEFEATED CANDIDATE.

We would suggest that some of our county candidates clip the following notice and stick it away in the inside pocket for reference on the morning after the coming primary election in August:

"Lost four months and 23 days canvassing; lost 1,340 hours' sleep
thinking about the election; lost 43 acres of corn and a whole sweet potato crop. Lost two front teeth and a lot of hair in a personal encounter with an opponent. Donated one beef, four sheep and five sheep to a country barbecue. Gave away two pairs of suspenders, five calico dresses, five dolls and 13 baby ratters. Kissed 126 babies, kindled 14 kitchen fires, put up eight stoves, cut 14 cords of wood, carried 24 buckets of water, gathered seven wagon loads of corn, pulled 575 bundles of fodder, walked 4,060 miles, shook hands 9,086 times, told 10,000 lies and talked enough to make in print 1,000 volumes the size of the patent office reports. Attended 26 revival meetings, was baptized four different times by immersion and twice some other way; contributed $50 to for-ign missions, made love to nine grass widows, got dog bit 39 times
and then got defeated."

FOOD BILL OF AVERAGE FAMILY INCREASED $339 TO $425 PER YEAR

Washington, D. C.—The annual food bill of the average family has grown from $339.30 in 1913 to $425.54 at present, the Department of labor stated in a review of food prices. In the years the department's experts estimate the advance in the cost of food has so far outstripped wage increases that the workman who drew $3 a day in 1907 now finds himself just 69 cents a day worse off.

The heaviest increase in food prices during the last four years is shown in potatoes, the cost of which has risen from $18.96 to $44.69. Other large increases are in eggs, from $33.01 to $43.07; flour, $15.12 to $25.40; butter, $45.72 to $54.78. Of the whole list of foods only sirloin and round steak are cheaper than five years ago.

In the period from January 15 to February 15 food prices took a 4 per cent. jump. Onions led with a 77 per cent. increase. Potatoes went up 39 per cent. Eggs alone decreased in price.

It is estimated that if a dollar's worth of food bought in 1907 weighed ten pounds it would weigh today a trifle more than seven pounds.

"Despite the average increase of 19 per cent. in wages an hour in the last ten years," says the Department's statement, "and despite a cut in hours worked of 4 per cent., the rising cost of foods has operated to reduce the pay of the American workingman about 16 per cent., expressed in terms of food his dollar will buy. A workingman who made $3 a day in 1907, working ten hours a day, in 1916 worked nine hours and thirty-six minutes a day and drew $3.48 for it; but it cost him $4.17 to buy the same quantity of food his $3 would cover in 1907.

The averages of food and of pay qualified by reductions in hours worked rose at about the same rate from 1912 to 1915, so that during that time wages would pay for about even quantities of food each year. Actually, workers enjoyed better conditions in 1915 than in 1912, because they had more and steadier work. But war losses got into the equation in 1916 and pushed up food prices faster than wages. There were some crop shortages also, which contributed their share. Besides this, however, there is reason to fear that other elements are conspiring to raise prices.

"Cold storage, rebilling, reshipping and withholding of commodities from market are suspected to contribute to the present abnormal rise in the prices of food. Whether some persons have conspired to engross the markets the Department of Labor cannot state. But the reports of the Bureau of Labor Statistics seem to lend some color to such an opinion, viewed in the light of conditions revealed by a comparison of figures through a range of years."

The customer inwardly raving kept to his agreement and paid the nickel.

"Now 25 cents expressage."

"Well I'll be—" he said, but paid it saying, "Now hand me that saw and I'll take it home myself and be rid of this foolery."

"Hand it to you? Where do you think you are? You're in Oklahoma and I'm in Chicago, and you have to wait a week for that saw."

Whereupon he hung the saw on a peg and put the money in his cash drawer.

"That makes $1.67," he said. "It has cost you 2 cents more and taken a week longer to get it than if you had paid my price in the first place." — [Square Dealer.]

PRESIDENT'S FLAG ON WHITE HOUSE

There is a new flag floating over the White House now, every day that the President is in residence. It is the uniquely beautiful flag of the President of the United States. Recently, for the first time in the history of the country, the flag of the President was lifted to the breeze on the top of the White House. For the last twenty-five years the American flag has been raised above the White House when the President was there, and if the President went out for three or four hours the flag was pulled down, so that it would look as though the White House was only protected by the flag when the President was in residence.

The Woman's Relief Corps and the Grand Army of the Republic have protested against this for many years, but it seemed without making any impression. It remained for President Wilson to express his repugnance of the idea that the United States flag was a personal possession of the President, and to determine that it should fly over the White House from sunrise to sunset every day in the year. It seems to be necessary, however, that there be some emblem to indicate that the President is in the city.

President Wilson solved this problem by deciding that the President's flag should be raised over the White House whenever he was in residence and taken down whenever he was outside of the White House grounds.

The flag of the President of the United States is the President's naval flag, but it is little known to the public. As it flies above the White House, it represents the great seal of the United States, namely, an eagle displayed in proper colors, with the olive branch in one talon, the arrows in the other, and above its head a glory in which appears thirteen stars. This is displayed on a ground of red, the flag itself being blue. The seal is inclosed, in one large five-pointed white star, encircled by a row of forty-eight stars representing the States in the Union. It floats over the port cochere of the White House, and is in a straight line with the staff of the United States flag, which flies from the peak of the White House proper. — [Washington National Tribune.]

Practically a daily at the price of a weekly. No other newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price.

The value and need of a newspaper in the household was never greater than at the present time.

The great war in Europe is now half-way into its third year, and whether peace be at hand or yet be far off, it and the events to follow it are sure to be of absorbing interest for many months to come.

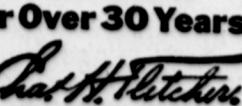

These are world-shaking affairs, in which the United States, willing or unwilling, is compelled to take a part. No intelligent person can ignore such issues.

The Thrice-A-Week World's regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and The Hartford Herald together for one year $1.65.

Fewer Eggs are required with ROYAL BAKING POWDER

In many recipes the number of eggs may be reduced with excellent results by using an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, for each egg omitted. The following recipe is a practical example:

Chocolate Sponge Roll

$\frac{3}{4}$ cup flour	2 tablespoons melted shortening
$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt	$\frac{1}{2}$ cup hot water
1 cup sugar	1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs	2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
2 squares melted chocolate

The old method called for 4 eggs and no baking powder.

DIRECTIONS—Sift flour, baking powder and salt together three times. Beat whole eggs. Add slowly sugar, then boiling water slowly; add next vanilla, melted chocolate and melted shortening, without beating. Sift in dry ingredients, and fold in as lightly as possible. Pour into large baking pan lined with oiled paper, and bake in slow oven twenty minutes. When done, turn out on a damp, hot cloth, spread with white icing and roll.
